Discussion Questions

- How does addressing systemic barriers to financial empowerment for youth of color (trust, debt, credit building, etc.) uniquely inform your portfolio- process, framing, and outcomes?
- What is the role for philanthropy in influencing policies and practices to meet the needs of youth of color?
- Are there common financial empowerment “blind spots” that keep us from financially empowering youth, particularly youth of color?
- Given our recent focus on opportunity youth, are you explicitly targeting youth of color and/or disengaged youth in your grantmaking? How might we think about and target the more marginalized and disengaged youth?
