Texas Family Budgets

How much income is enough for a working family to cover basic necessities? And what does it take for families to move from just getting by to getting ahead? The Texas Family Budgets helps answer those questions for 27 Texas metro areas.

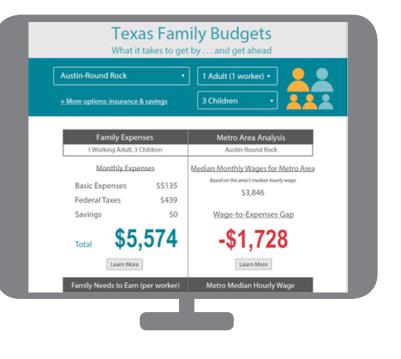

- How much does health insurance cost when families get it through their employer vs. buying it themselves?
- How hard is it for families to save for a rainy day or for their kids' college?
- How does the gender pay gap affect family budgets?

Features & Best Uses

The Texas Family Budgets website is not intended to be a family financial planning tool. Rather, it is designed to help policy makers and other leaders undestand how their decisions impact Texas families' financial security. You can use the Texas Family Budgets:

- To explore the tough choices lowerincome families would have to make if they couldn't cover their expenses.
- To consider the impact of policies such as health insurance or child care subsidies on expenses.
- As a benchmark for program planning and evaluation for family financial security programs.
